Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 16 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Rain clearing to sunshine today. Rather mild.

Today:
A damp start this morning, but soon becoming bright with sunny spells. Turning cloudier later in the afternoon as a band of showers, some perhaps heavy, arrive from the west. Remaining mild. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
The heavy showers should clear through the evening, becoming largely dry with patchy cloud overnight. Becoming cloudy with outbreaks of rain and strengthening winds once again by dawn. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Wednesday:
Another mild and murky start on Wednesday, with rain and cloud clearing to the east. Some brightness is possible before further cloud and rain arrive from the southwest by evening. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Remaining rather changeable and often windy with rain possible each day. Bright or sunny interludes remain likely. Mild by day but chilly on Thursday night with isolated frosts possible.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.